

Instructions for button label placement.

If testing the system during installation, try to use the vinyl pouch to protect the buttons from oil, and grease during installation, or apply labels before testing the system. To install button labels make sure button surface is clean from dirt and oils. With a cloth clean buttons with an alcohol based cleaner, contact glass cleaner, or lacquer thinner. The cleaner the surface, the better the button label adhesion will be. Peel and stick labels into place by placing the bottom of the button label under the molded rubber lip on the button, and press the button firmly into place. As an option, Super Glue can be applied to the button, before placing the label, to help hold the labels in place.

Instructions for button label placement.

If testing the system during installation, try to use the vinyl pouch to protect the buttons from oil, and grease during installation, or apply labels before testing the system. To install button labels make sure button surface is clean from dirt and oils. With a cloth clean buttons with an alcohol based cleaner, contact glass cleaner, or lacquer thinner. The cleaner the surface, the better the button label adhesion will be. Peel and stick labels into place by placing the bottom of the button label under the molded rubber lip on the button, and press the button firmly into place. As an option, Super Glue can be applied to the button, before placing the label, to help hold the labels in place.

Instructions for button label placement.

If testing the system during installation, try to use the vinyl pouch to protect the buttons from oil, and grease during installation, or apply labels before testing the system. To install button labels make sure button surface is clean from dirt and oils. With a cloth clean buttons with an alcohol based cleaner, contact glass cleaner, or lacquer thinner. The cleaner the surface, the better the button label adhesion will be. Peel and stick labels into place by placing the bottom of the button label under the molded rubber lip on the button, and press the button firmly into place. As an option, Super Glue can be applied to the button, before placing the label, to help hold the labels in place.

Instructions for button label placement.

If testing the system during installation, try to use the vinyl pouch to protect the buttons from oil, and grease during installation, or apply labels before testing the system. To install button labels make sure button surface is clean from dirt and oils. With a cloth clean buttons with an alcohol based cleaner, contact glass cleaner, or lacquer thinner. The cleaner the surface, the better the button label adhesion will be. Peel and stick labels into place by placing the bottom of the button label under the molded rubber lip on the button, and press the button firmly into place. As an option, Super Glue can be applied to the button, before placing the label, to help hold the labels in place.

Instructions for button label placement.

If testing the system during installation, try to use the vinyl pouch to protect the buttons from oil, and grease during installation, or apply labels before testing the system. To install button labels make sure button surface is clean from dirt and oils. With a cloth clean buttons with an alcohol based cleaner, contact glass cleaner, or lacquer thinner. The cleaner the surface, the better the button label adhesion will be. Peel and stick labels into place by placing the bottom of the button label under the molded rubber lip on the button, and press the button firmly into place. As an option, Super Glue can be applied to the button, before placing the label, to help hold the labels in place.